

STUDY NEED FOR RESERVE FUND IN SOCIAL SECURITY

Present System Would Accumulate 47 Billion In 1980

Some Favor "Pay-As-You-Go" With Less Taxes

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee ordered a study today to see if it is necessary for the social security system to accumulate a gigantic reserve fund of $47,000,000,000.

It has been estimated that the reserve will reach that figure by 1980 if the present law remains unchanged. Some critics have maintained that such a reserve would be unnecessary and unmanageable.

The committee directed three of its members, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.), Senator Byrd (D-Va.) and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), to join with social security board officials in setting up an advisory council composed of disinterested experts to make a study of the old age pension section of the act.

Senator Vandenberg was supported by Senator Byrd in seeking the study as the committee interviewed social security officials on the subject.

Vandenberg said the board officials agreed with the committee that the full-reserve program was a problem that could not be ignored. He added that the Chairman A. J. Altmeyer of the security board and other board witnesses expressed willingness to have the study made.

Vandenberg presented to the committee, and later to the Senate, a list of presidents of 60 insurance companies who he said were unanimous in agreeing "a full reserve plan is not necessary, and the government pension can be operated on a pay-as-you-go basis with a mere contingent fund."

Vandenberg said it would be easier for the taxpayer to meet the needs of each year than to accumulate the reserve and then pay interest on it.

He and other Republicans have presented a resolution calling on the security board to submit to Congress a plan for either increasing federal old-age benefits or reducing payroll taxes. The resolution also calls for extension of benefits to groups now excluded, such as domestic servants and farmers.

Old age pension taxes are now one percent on both workers wages and employers' payrolls and are scheduled to climb until they reach 3 percent each in 1942.

Secretary Morgenthau indicated to a House committee last week the effect of the reserve, which must be invested in three percent government securities under the present law might be to shift ownership of government securities from present holders to old-age pension beneficiaries.

Morgenthau said social security investments would aggregate $30,000,000,000 in 17 years, if the law is unchanged, and by that time would absorb all except $4,500,000,000 of the present public debt.

CONVALESCENT

Vatican City, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The pope's chamberlain today removed from the Vatican anteroom a register in which visitors have inscribed their hopes for the pontiff's recovery, indicating the holy father is believed definitely convalescent.

Well informed prelates insisted the pope intends to attend both Holy Thursday and Good Friday services in the Sistine chapel.

Recurrent pains in his ulcerated legs disturbed the pontiff's rest over the week-end. He granted audiences, however, to several cardinals and Vatican officials today.

Mississippi Has Reached Its Peak Outside Natchez

Natchez, Miss., Feb. 22.—(AP)—W. F. MacDonald, meteorologist at New Orleans, expressed belief today the Mississippi river had definitely reached a peak here.

The stream was reported at a crest of 58 feet at Natchez, 12 feet above flood stage, but nearly a half foot under the revised crest predicted yesterday by MacDonald.

Pressure from cut-offs above Natchez was credited by the forecaster with piling up waters a foot and a half higher than the 1927 flood record here.

Under the weight of this unusually high water, work was intensified in the planking, sandbagging and guarding the 35-mile stretch of low river on the Louisiana side of the river from Deer Park to the mouth of the Red river. Hundreds of men participated in the fight against flood.

RAILROAD MEN MAP PLANS FOR WAGE INCREASE

Non-Operating And Operating Unions In Meeting

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A demand for a general wage increase for 800,000 of the nation's railroad workers was mapped today by representatives of 16 "non-operating" railway brotherhoods.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the meeting and head of the railway clerks' organization, announced he expected the 1,000 delegates to "get together without much difficulty" on a joint request.

General chairman of the five "operating" brotherhoods recently agreed to seek a 20 percent pay boost. While Harrison declined to predict the men now in session would demand the same increase, he commented:

"The unions usually work together." Harrison, who holds the post of chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, estimated a 20 percent pay hike for the 1,100,000 members of all 21 brotherhoods would amount to $360,000,000 a year.

Predicting formal action on the wage question tomorrow, Harrison declared:

"The railroad industry has 500,000 fewer employees now than in 1920 although business is rapidly getting back to the 1929 level. In that year the brotherhoods were ready to ask for wage increases but postponed action when the slump came. We now are simply picking up where we left off then."

The five "operating" brotherhoods are those composed of engineers, firemen and conductors, conductors, trainmen and switchmen. The "non-operating" unions embrace virtually all other workers in railroad service. Including clerks, telegraphers, carmen, shop laborers, machinists, blacksmiths and others.

LIFER OFFERS BODY TO BE 'HUMAN GUINEA PIG'

McAlester, Okla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Julius Bohannon, triple slayer and leader of a 23-man break from McAlester penitentiary last May 13, offered tonight to become a "human guinea pig" for medical science.

"I want to help my children get an education," said the square-jawed prisoner, now under two life sentences.

Paul Colvert, member of the state board of affairs, said the state was ready to give him a trial.

"He wants to be a guinea pig," Colvert said, "and if some medical organization is anxious to perform some experiments with new medicines or drugs, I think the way is open."

Bohannon has two children.

The following was gleaned from a Pennsylvania paper: "WANTED, temporarily driving truck driver, experienced driving White truck. The White Company."

President Visits Washington's Tomb; Farewell Message Is Read In Senate

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt observed George Washington's birthday by motoring to Mount Vernon late today to visit the first president's stately home and his tomb.

He stood at silent attention while two aides placed a wreath of palm leaves at the tomb.

In Congress, the traditional reading of Washington's farewell message touched off a Senate controversy.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) read the message, which includes this passage: "The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations, is, in Chicago, to have with them as little political connection as possible."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) took the floor to say that weakness helped dictate the country's foreign policy in that way.

"Cooperation with the League of Nations in one form or another is the best anti-war medicine we can take,"

OVIDO STREETS SCENE OF FIGHT TO BREAK SIEGE

Insurgents, Trapped 3 Months, Growing Desperate

Government Troops Push Offensive to Cut Off Lead

Bilbao, Spain, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A bloody struggle raged tonight in the streets of Oviedo, "Alcazar" of the Asturian Minelands.

Paced by reckless dynamiters, brawny miners who light dynamite fuses from their dangling cigars and then throw them, ten thousand government militiamen were said by President Juan Antonio Aguirre of the Basque Regional Regime to have seized eight streets east of the Oviedo north station.

President Aguirre said the plight of the decimated insurgent band, bottled up inside Oviedo for three months, was "critical."

Other government troops pushed an offensive southward on Leon, 52 miles away, to prevent help from reaching the Oviedo insurgents. The Basque Asturian militia cut the road to the insurgent base at Grado, west of Oviedo, for a second time. They occupied Mounts Escamplero and Otero, setting the action in a narrow at the center. Salient. The Village of Pando, between Oviedo and Grado, also was captured.

Government fighters approached within 1,500 yards of Grado itself. The Oviedo building, a reservoir and an asylum were captured by the government militiamen. Government guns and planes made an inferno around Pelayo barracks, chief insurgent fortress in the "martyred city" of the Asturian plain. The flames were reported spreading.

On the Leon drive, the government said it had blown up 70 yards of railroad at Matallana, disrupting the main insurgent line of communication.

From the heights above Oviedo, medieval haven of priests from ravaging Moor, setting the action in a narrow at the center. Salient. The Village of Pando, between Oviedo and Grado, also was captured.

He telegraphed Aguirre that Col. Higuera Aranda's insurgents in the stark city of war-torn churches and industrial buildings lying but 14 miles inland from the Bay of Biscay, were cut off from food and munitions and had become "desperate."

From 6:30 A. M. this morning on, shell after shell smashed into the already wrecked insurgent stronghold. From the sky, swift government bombers, in screaming power-dives, bombed the straggling insurgent barricades and machine-gunned their defenders.

One insurgent plane was shot down.

DAMAGE CAREFULLY GUARDED WARPLANE

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A carefully guarded warplane, flown here from the west coast for export to Russia, was damaged today when a chain being used to hoist it into a crane at Floyd Bennett Field snapped.

Field attaches said the accident would prevent shipment of the plane, a Vultee attack-bomber, on the steamship Scanstates which sails Thursday.

Considerable mystery surrounded the heavily armed and armored craft since its arrival here last week. Carrying five machine guns and racks for 1,135 pounds of bombs, it was to be followed this week by a second plane of the same type, consigned to the Amtorg Trading Corporation for shipment to Russia.

SHOT AND KILLED

Newark, N. J., Feb. 22.—(AP)—John Licari, a former boxer known as "Young Dempsey," was shot and killed tonight in a tavern and his brother Anthony was critically wounded.

Another brother, Roscoe, drove the wounded man to City hospital. He said he did not see the shooting.

Police rounded up a number of persons in and near the tavern in an effort to learn the circumstances of the shooting.

One gun was found, police said.

Fansteel Strikers Agree To Parley In Springfield Today

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Union leaders emerged tonight from a conference with federal conciliators seeking to settle the six day "sit down" strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation, and announced the strikers would send a delegation to Springfield tomorrow for a peace parley called by Gov. Henry Horner.

Simultaneously, three company officials left for Chicago, where they said they would board a train late tonight for the state capital.

The union men, C.I.O. Organizer Meyer Adelman, Joseph Jacobson, attorney for the strikers, and Thurlow Lewis, state counsel for the United Mine Workers, refused to enlarge on their bald statement, "a delegation will go to Springfield." They would not say whether a committee of the strikers themselves would be chosen.

However, each of the leaders told reporters that he intended to attend the conference. Adelman said, "of course I'm going. I'm the strikers' representative."

Earlier in the evening, when R. J. Aitchison, president of the company, announced he would attend the peace conference, he said he would not participate if anyone other than the strikers themselves represented the sit-downers.

Aitchison said he would object to "outsiders whom we can not recognize nor deal with." He wired Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor that "I would want you to make it perfectly clear to the men (the strikers) that we are meeting them as ex-employees and not as representatives either of the Committee on Industrial Organization or Lodge 66 of the Almagamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America."

Aitchison suggested the conference be held at the governor's office at 11 a.m. with the governor, three strikers and three representatives of the company as participants. He said he would attend, accompanied by Plant Superintendent H. A. Anselm and Dr. Frank H. Briggs, director of research.

Company Attorney Max Swiren said recognition of the union remained the crux of the stalemate. Meritine conciliators held meetings with spokesmen for both sides.

Weary of a diet of cold sandwiches, the strikers arranged with a restaurant for a supply of warm food. Ten gallons of vegetable soup, 50 pounds of beef, 14 dozen buns and a huge container of milk were carried to the beleaguered buildings. A number of cots were delivered. Windows shattered last Friday—when the defenders drove back a force of policemen and deputies attempting to carry out a court order for their evacuation—were covered with cardboard.

Swiren stated the "vast majority" of Fansteel employees will be afforded the opportunity to return to their jobs as soon as the two factories are cleared. The task of removing the "sit-downers," he added, must be assumed "by the executive officers of the county and the state."

Federal Mediators Robert Pilkington and John O'Connor conferred with Joseph Jacobs, attorney for the strikers; C.I.O. Organizer Meyer Adelman and Thurlow Lewis, state counsel for the United Mine Workers. Later they met with H. N. Keele and Sidney Block, company attorneys.

Rollo Ogden, Editor Of New York Times Dies At His Home

Caught Cold Last Monday; Was Active Until That Time

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Rollo Ogden, editor of the New York Times, died at his home today of a pulmonary congestion at the age of 61.

His death closed a distinguished newspaper career of almost half a century which had earned him a place as one of the "elder statesmen" of American journalism.

Editor of the New York Evening Post for 29 years and of the Times for the last 15 years, Mr. Ogden remained an active command of his duties until last Monday, when he caught a cold.

His alertness, vigor and freshness of viewpoint despite his age had evoked wide admiration. In recent years when eye trouble developed, it was necessary to read to him much of the material which he considered.

Born in Sand Lake, Rensselaer County, New York, in 1856, the son of a Presbyterian clergyman, Mr. Ogden was graduated from Williams College and served in the ministry for seven years, retiring in 1889 to take up literary work.

He joined the Post in 1891 and became editor in 1903.

Mr. Ogden joined the Times in 1920 and succeeded Charles Ransom Miller as editor on his death in 1922.

Under him, the Times continued its opposition to Tammany Hall, urged the United States membership in the World Court, and sounded warnings during the 1928 economic boom.

Among Mr. Ogden's writings outside newspapers were the biography of the historian William H. Prescott, "The Life and Letters of Edward Lawrence Godkin," and a translation of the Spanish "Maria," a South American Romance.

NOTE TELLS OF MEN DROWNING IN RIVER

New Madrid, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A note, telling that three men drowned when a small boat sank near Cairo, Ill., Feb. 12, was found in a bottle floating in the Mississippi river today.

Erza States, an employee of the United States army engineers, pulled the bottle from the river. The note, written in pencil on a scrap of paper, said:

"Will the finder of this note please notify government officers that a small boat sank near Cairo, Ill., with three men on the 12th of February. The men drowned were George Shebert, Herman Jenkins and Bob Martin."

He said the statement was an interpretation made 60 years after Washington's death.

ZERO, SUB-ZERO WEATHER FALLS OVER MIDWEST

Floods, Winds And Heavy Snows Take Life Toll

Destruction And Damage Is Spread Over Wide Area

(By The Associated Press)

Zero or sub-zero weather descended on most of the midwest yesterday (Monday) after week-end floods, near hurricane winds and heavy snows took at least five lives and spread destruction over a wide area.

Southern Minnesota and Iowa cleared highways buried under snow which in some places was piled in drifts 20 to 25 feet high. Temperatures generally in Minnesota were from zero to 10 below. North Dakota felt the sting of zero to 18 below temperature.

Iowa dug out from under the worst snow drift blockade of the winter. Hundreds of motorists were marooned Saturday and Sunday. Several trains were stalled for hours. An aged farmer collapsed and died in a drift near Atlantic, Ia., when he tried to reach a farm house from his snow-bound car.

Illinois where flood waters took three lives, saw new hope in the cold wave. It froze the surface of Rock river and other streams and they began to fall. Galena, Ill., placed its flood loss between $250,000 and $300,000.

Southern Wisconsin's flood danger also was alleviated by the freezing weather. Rivers there were falling fast, but tens of thousands of dollars worth of damage had been done.

Northern Wisconsin faced the task of breaking through snow drifts ranging up to 20 feet high. Hurley, Wis., and Ironwood, Mich., measured their snow fall at 30 inches.

High winds plagued Vermont, Rhode Island and parts of New York. At Binghamton, N. Y., wet snow temporarily disrupted telephone and electric service. Light poles were blown down on Welfare Island and caused a short circuit which plunged four hospitals containing 3,000 patients into darkness.

An aged man, shoveling snow at Liverpool, N. Y., died of a heart attack.

Fifteen members of a construction crew, marooned by snow since Christmas on the north rim of Grand Canyon in Arizona, reached a ranch house at the bottom of the mile-deep gorge. Fifteen other men and two women remained at the snowbound lodge on the rim.

North and South Carolina and Tennessee felt the effects of high winds. Several houses were demolished at Charlotte, N. C. The town of Norris, Tenn., site of the Norris dam, was without electricity because wind blew down power lines.

Forecasters generally were for fair weather. In the midwest continued cold was predicted.

Seeks for Method To End 'Sit-downs'

Detroit, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Walter L. Fry, engaged in capital's first sit-down strike, found time between telephone calls today to search for some method of ending the epidemic of sit-down strikes by labor.

"First," he said, "I want to work out some plan to prevent this thing ever happening again in my own plant. If I am successful here, then the results will be made available to other small manufacturers, several of whom have telephoned to tell me of their problems."

Fry's company is Fry Products, Inc., which manufactures automobile seat covers. Approximately 110 of the 350 employees, most of them girls and women, have been on a sit-down strike there since Friday.

Fry, president and chief salesman, began his own sit-down strike at the same time, announcing to his employees that "if you won't work, then I won't go out and get orders to provide you with work." He has been sleeping and eating in his office since then. The workers are occupying the plant.

Mussolini Orders Firing Squad For Ethiopians Throwing Hand Grenades

Addis Ababa, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Italy's makers of a new Roman empire, stung by an assassin's attack on their new viceroy, ordered the firing squad instead of the peacemaker for unruly Ethiopians tonight.

From Rome, Chancellor Benito Mussolini decreed:

1. Summary execution for the channia-clad native who, on pretense of receiving gifts, threw grenades that wounded Rodolfo Graziani, the hard-bitten marshal who fought his way through the sands and marshes of the south to conquer and become the viceroy of Africa's last independent kingdom.

2. Death for every native chieftain or officer who opposes Italian troops, even in the territory yet unoccupied.

Already, 2,000 native suspects and witnesses in last Friday's bombing have been rounded up; 30,000 troops are in the Addis garrison and speedy courts-martial are to decide those

Simpson Excites Dressmakers, But She Buys Nothing

Cannes, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Simpson had the French dressmakers twitter about Rousseaux today, but it seems she's "just looking."

With Mrs. Harman Rogers, her riviera hostess, she was an interested spectator at Sunday's Patou style show at the Casino. The newest spring and summer fluffs were paraded past her table.

Today, though, she let it be known she "has not received or ordered anything, either designs or fabric, from anybody, and hasn't decided what to buy or where to buy it."

(From Vienna.) Sir Walter T. Monckton flew toward London today from a conference with Edward Duke of Windsor, who gave up his throne for the "woman of Cannes." Sir Walter, who is attorney general of the Duchy of Cornwall, carried a brief case in which, it was reported, were papers relating to a royal stipend for Edward, who wants to marry Mrs. Simpson as soon as possible after her decree of divorce becomes final April 27.

Despite Mrs. Simpson's avowed indecision about her wedding clothes, it was learned from another source that she gave one Paris dressmaker to understand she might go there in March to make some selections.

AMATEUR WORK UNEARTHS CLUE IN UNION DEATH

Important Lead Is Found In 'Sand-Hogs' Slaying

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Prosecutor John J. Breslin announced tonight that the gun used to kill R. Norman Redwood, New York "Sand-Hogs" union leader, had been traced to the point where it was sold to the late Police Chief Carroll Potter of Demarest.

"We are attempting to trace the whereabouts of the gun from then on," he said.

Breslin said he had sent a request to Joseph Moreschi, of Quincy, Mass., president of the International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' Union of America, to come here for questioning on other phases of the case.

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A slender clue produced by the work of two amateur criminologists led tonight to "the most important" praise in the investigation of the murder of R. Norman Redwood, New York "Sandhogs" union leader.

Bergen county Prosecutor John J. Breslin, Jr., said the original purchaser of a pistol used in the killing had been determined, and with the widow of the second purchaser, would be brought here soon for a conference.

The 35 caliber gun, found not far from Redwood's Tea-neck home on a route leading to the George Washington bridge and New York, was traced to a New York dealer after its filed serial numbers had been raised through a secret process developed by two members of a private crime detection bureau at Elizabeth, N. J.

It was identified as the weapon from which all four shots were fired into Redwood's body as he sat in his automobile in the driveway of his home Friday night.

"We have the name of the man who bought the gun from the dealer in September, 1930," Breslin said. "He referred to the purchaser as 'X.' 'X' will be here for questioning."

Breslin said, "X" sold the gun to 'Y.' 'Y' is dead. But 'Y's' wife will also be here for questioning."

Still seeking a motive for the killing in a tangled background of labor and union disputes, Breslin said the murder "was undoubtedly of New York origin and was committed by hired New York gunmen."

Advised of Buchanan's death, Speaker Bankhead said he was "distressed and grieved that such a useful and courageous man has passed."

"I can hardly find words to express my admiration and respect for him," he said.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), House majority leader, said: "He was a man of fine ability and rendered great service to his state and country."

January Police Report Shows 33 Motor Vehicles Are Damaged

Fourteen persons were injured in 31 motor vehicle accidents here in January, a report from the local police station shows. Thirty-three cars were damaged in the motor vehicle mishaps. Six pedestrians were hit, three cars collided with trains, two with bicycles and one with a fixed object.

Nearly one-third of the accidents occurred between the hours 6:01 and 7:00 p. m., the report shows, ten mishaps occurring during that hour. Five of the accidents took place between 12:01 and 6:00 a. m.

A Public Safeguard

The municipal primary election today is a safeguard which all citizens should recognize.

Its presence in our system of election laws makes the selection of qualified officials doubly certain.

It acts as a check to the unqualified; proves a barrier to candidates who would attempt to serve the city, but who are for one reason or another, unsuited to take over the responsibilities of city government.

The primary election affords opportunity for voters of both parties to nominate strong candidates. It is the duty of voters, both Republicans and Democrats, to support men who they believe are big enough and capable enough to fill the offices.

The primary election is a survival of the fittest, if representative votes are cast. But in instances where interest is slight, where the majority of voters remain away from the polls, the primary can prove a dangerous proposition. Then, it gives the weak and unqualified aspirants a chance of defeating the strong—candidates of mediocre character might slip through the lines and enter offices to the public's regret.

Primary elections such as Jacksonville is conducting today are an effective check on a rush toward offices by large fields of candidates. Defeat does not necessarily indicate that candidates are not qualified. But the primary gives the voters of the various parties a chance to send into the regular election their most highly qualified men.

Republican and Democrat voters today should take no chances in their party's primary. They should see that the best men for the jobs are nominated.

The primary, then, will serve one of the purposes for which it was created—to guard the interests of citizens.

With conscientious, capable men nominated for the various offices by both parties, Jacksonville need not worry about its government the next few years.

Gasoline and Alcohol

When consumed by automobile drivers, gasoline and alcohol will not mix. The devastating results of the combination are recognized, and feared by all sensible persons.

Gasoline and alcohol when consumed by automobiles, do mix. It is a combination that may pull agriculture a foot or two off the floor by its bootstraps.

Scientists are continually experimenting with substitutes for petroleum products to keep the millions of automobiles running. They have succeeded in mixing gas and alkyl, though the pair have not yet been perfectly matched.

The possibilities of motor fuel from grain, such as corn, which is grown in this section of Illinois in large quantities, are limitless. What if the motor industry turns to the corn fields for their fuel? Morgan, Scott, Greene, Cass, Pike and other corn counties will become important centers in the business.

Manufacture of motor fuel from grain would no doubt boost prices of grain, or at least bring it to a level where the farmer could always be sure of a paying crop. It would mean that millions of acres now devoted to other purposes would be thrown back into corn.

Raising corn to run automobiles would prove one of the greatest combinations in the annals of American agriculture and industry.

It would put the future aspirations of the soybean to shame.

With livestock consuming corn; humans eating corn in dozens of foods, and the automobiles and trucks sucking billions of gallons of corn juice into carburetors, the business of farming and distilling motor fuel would rival perpetual motion.

A hint of the vast work going on behind the scenes in the motor industry in experiments with alcohol blends for fuel is seen in the following statement:

"We know we can easily produce motor fuel from our farm products to supplement the gasoline distilled from our crude oils, but we do not yet know what fermentable materials can be used most economically."

That statement was made to the Detroit chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers by Dr. H. E. Barnard, director of research for the Farm Chemurgic Council.

Dr. Barnard said that at Atchison, Kan., an alcohol plant has just been built which has a capacity of 10,000 gallons of motor fuel a day. "This means that 4,000 bushels of corn, each containing more than 30 pounds of fermentable starch can, for 300 days in the year, be turned into motor fuel instead of into pork or dairy products.

"Cull potatoes from Colorado, sweet potatoes from the South, artichokes from a thousand trial plots, low-grade grains of every sort, molasses from Louisiana cane sugar factories, are being shipped to Atchison and converted into motor fuel under the best technical supervision.

"One bushel of corn can be fermented into two and one-half gallons of alcohol. Also, when our oil supplies demand that we look elsewhere for a part of our motor fuel, it will take—on a 10 percent blend basis—700,000,000 bushels of corn to yield the necessary alcohol.

"The corn crop harvested last year, if it were all converted into alcohol, would produce no more than a 20 percent blend. In any average year, we might, after building the necessary conversion plants, call upon the crop of 21,000,000 rich corn belt acres to supply one-tenth of the motor fuel we are now drawing from the already depleted stores of crude oil."

We will add our opinion that the corn belt farmers do not care what is to become of the corn they raise, if the price is right. They don't care whether it is fed, or used to ride around the country.

It will be a great day when the farmers get to raising their own gasoline—or, at least, part of it.

"Walk Softly"

The police department at Dubuque, Iowa, is in somewhat of a mess.

A 37 year old man was found lying in a stupified condition in a doorway. Policemen took him to the station, booked him on a charge of intoxication, and bundled him into a cell.

Some hours later the man's son appeared at the station after a frantic search, and took home his dad. Investigation revealed that the man had not been intoxicated, but had suffered a stroke. He died shortly afterward. Now, it appears, the whole affair may result in a shakeup of the police department.

Persons in many lines of work fall into a rut. They get accustomed to handling all situations in the same stereotyped manner. This includes many policemen, who have a cut-and-dried technique of handling drunk cases.

We doubt if the Dubuque man was given any special attention, or care. "Just another drunk," probably was the attitude of the officers who picked him up.

First aid was what that man needed, rather than a few hours to sober up from what the policemen thought was a drunken stupor. The affair could result in a lesson for law enforcement officers who adopt an attitude that they "know it all."

The smart policeman knows that all cases he handles, even the drunks, are not exactly alike. He is alert to variations. He does not become stereotyped in his thought or actions.

Too Much For Granted

One of the oldest gags we can recollect is about the householder scanning the seed catalogs, when the snow is a foot or two deep outside.

The only funny thing we could ever see about the joke was that it's true to life. The real gardeners, the men and women who like to plant things and see them grow, do not wait until April or June to begin planning the work.

Persons who love to "potter around" in gardens visualize growing vegetables and flowers long before the time arrives to plant or set them out. With many persons, raising a vegetable garden is a matter of economy. A well planned garden with an assortment of vegetables can contribute much to the table over a season of several months.

Others turn attention to flowers, shrubs and beauty. Gardening of this kind does not bear the material crops the vegetable gardens provide, but they produce artistic satisfaction for their owners.

Jacksonville has both kinds of gardens, many of them, each spring and summer. We are not too cosmopolitan to get our hands soiled, and to get down on our knees and weed the onion sets and pansies.

We are fortunate in having space on which to grow things. We are fortunate in having sunshine that is not blotted out by skyscrapers. Our lot is all the better for the pure air, which most of the time is free from smoke and soot. There are few persons in Jacksonville who cannot have a garden, if they desire it.

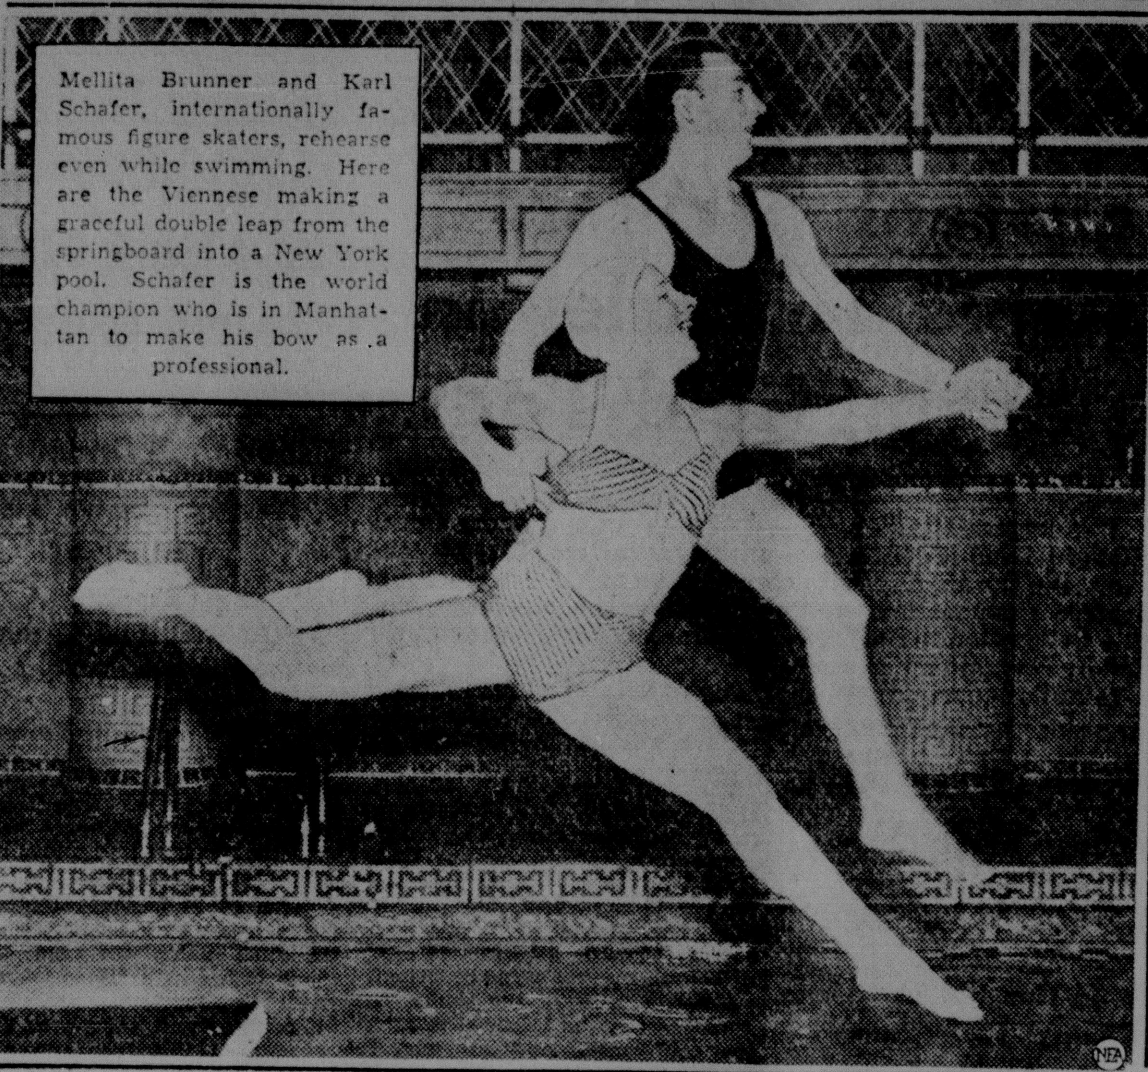

Within a few weeks these persons who feel the urge to plant and to reap will get busy in their gardens. Many have special days upon which they do planting. St. Patrick's day is the favorite of many potato raisers. The signs of moon are watched by others, who believe that Nature has a way of telegraphing the word "go."

Jacksonville is the richer for her gardens. The vegetables and flowers offer ample reward for the work necessary to develop them.

Going to Plant a Garden?

Miss Myra Ferrings, a former resident of this city about 16 years ago, has achieved considerable renown as a poet despite the fact that she is bedfast most of the time. One of her poems, "Walk Softly," was included in a volume including the 77 best works of the year, written by English and American poets, and published in London, England.

Almost All Victims of Measles Are Children Under 15 Years of Age

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In the United States, measles is most common during February and March. It affects all kinds of people, but is slightly more prevalent among girls than boys, and among white than colored children. More city than country people die of measles, and more people in the north than in the south.

More than one-half of all cases of measles affect children younger than 5 years of age, and 97 per cent of cases affect children under 15. If an older person catches measles, it is no sign that he is childish in his ways or habits, but it is nevertheless an unusual disease among older people.

Not only do most cases of measles affect young children, but most deaths from the disease claim very young children. Over 90 per cent of deaths involve children under 5, and the highest death rate occurs among children in the first and second years of life. The safest time to have measles is between 5 and 15 years of age.

Measles, like other infectious diseases, is not what it used to be. The death rate from diphtheria, dropped from 21 per 100,000 in 1910 to around six in 1930. Similarly, the death rate from measles dropped from 12 per 100,000 in 1910 to 21 in 1930. About

No Moans for Lewis

When Labor Leader John L. Lewis went to Michigan to supervise the General Motors strike and enter subsequent negotiations, he warned off newspaper correspondents by saying: "Let there be no moaning at the bar, when I put out to sea."

"Chattering Beings"

Mr. James Francis O'Connor, a new congressman from Montana, tells the House of Representatives what he thinks of it—after complaining that the supreme court, not Congress, does the law making. If by increasing the membership of that court you can make the House a law-making body, as in theory it is, instead of a bunch of chattering beings that occupy trees and hang by their tails, then I say let us increase the membership of the court.

A couple of his subordinates who spotted the origin of the poetical paraphrase, shivered lest some of their chief's enemies should pounce upon this and ridicule him.

The line came from Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," which has to do with death. At the time no one here was sure whether Lewis was setting off toward a tragic disaster to his career or to victory. That verse goes:

"Sunset and Evening Star
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning at the bar
When I put out to sea."

Bankhead Tells a Story

Speaker William B. Bankhead, who has served in Congress twenty years, was telling stories at a party he gave for his beautiful actress-daughter, Tallulah, here recently. He started to describe how the boys down home at Jasper, Ala., had fixed it up to give him a big welcome reception to celebrate his elevation to the speakership.

"You mean them hill-billies, Daddy?" piped Tallulah.

"Sure," said the speaker, "I'm a hill-billy."
"Well, there were flags and bunting all over town. The bands were out and there was an old fellow down from the hills and he wanted to know what was going on. They told him: 'Billy Bankhead's coming back to town.'"

"Is that so?" he said, "Where's Billy been?"

Former Murrayville Man Dies in Newark, New Jersey, Feb. 16

Frank P. Farrell, Successful Heating Contractor, Buried in East Friday

Murrayville—Frank P. Farrell, of 183 Wyoming ave., heating and ventilating contractor of Newark, N. J., the last thirty years, died at his home, Feb. 16, 1937.

Born in Murrayville, Ill., Mr. Farrell had lived in Newark since he was a young man.

From his business headquarters at 269 Camden street, Mr. Farrell completed many large heating and ventilating contracts in this state, New York and Pennsylvania, specializing in schools, hospitals and other public buildings. Among his larger contracts was the medical center at Jersey City.

Mr. Farrell was a member of Monks' Order, a fourth degree of K. of C., Newark council K. of C., Division No. 3 A. C. H., Newark lodge B.P.O.E., the Holy Name society and Maplewood Country club.

He leaves his wife, Clara M. Farrell; a daughter, Marie Clara; his mother, Mrs. John Farrell, of Murrayville; four sisters, Miss Bea Farrell and Mrs. John Wahl, both of Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Richard Ryan, of Winchester, Ill., and Mrs. Charles Dolan, of Murrayville, Ill., and one brother, Thomas, of Winchester, Ill.

A Requiem High mass was sung on Friday, February 19th, at 9-30 a. m., at St. Columbus church by Rev. Fr. John F. Farrell, of New York, cousin of Mr. Farrell, Fr. Lawler, deacon; Fr. Stone, sub-deacon, and Rev. Fr. Duffy, master of ceremony. The Holy Name society attended in a body. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

"WHITE ELEPHANT" IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Third Blaze in Week Razes Tavern at Hardin

Jerseyville—The third fire in less than a week to occur in the village of Hardin razed the White Elephant Tavern, one mile north of the main business section early Saturday morning.

The fire originated, according to reports, at a point near the front door of the tavern, and is believed to be of incendiary origin.

Charles Plummer and Mrs. Plummer who were asleep in the upper story of the building narrowly escaped death. They were finally awakened by the smoke and cracking of the flames and made their escape in their night clothes.

The first fire of mysterious origin occurred last Sunday morning when the large apple packing plant in the village was burned at an estimated loss of twenty thousand dollars.

The fire at the packing plant was discovered by Clifford Ruyle and Richard Devine who were passing the place. They aroused Luther Stollen, operator of a nearby filling station who telephoned an alarm.

The fire at the packing plant had gained great headway, and a call for additional fighting equipment was sent to Jerseyville. The Jerseyville fire department made the twenty mile run from here and succeeded in confining the blaze to the immediate vicinity of the packing plant.

Several hours after the apple plant fire had been subdued, a second fire entailing a loss of six thousand dollars destroyed the Hardin meat market. A call again was sent to Jerseyville for help and the local department again responded and aided in keeping the flames confined to the meat market.

Jacksonville To Wind Up Season Tonight With Carlinville As Foe

Catholic Fives Get Ready for Tourney

Cathedral of Belleville Is One of Leading Contenders for State Crown

Peoria—Enthusiasm runs rampant on 16 widely scattered cage fronts in the state of Illinois as the time nears for the commencing of the tenth annual Illinois Catholic high school basketball tournament to be held next Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Peoria state armory under the auspices of Spalding Institute, defending champions.

More words cannot describe the precaution, care and untiring practice that each team entered in the meet is undergoing, but words can tell what those rabid basket fans who attend can expect. Thrills, chills, excitement, fascination, high-powered hardwood action and a husky voice is the menu for those who witness this 1937 presentation.

Marty Peters, three letterman in both football and basketball at Notre Dame, class of '36, who gained national fame when he kicked a field goal that enabled Notre Dame to beat Pittsburgh, 9 to 6, and who last week was named athletic director and head football coach at St. Benedict's college, Atchison, Kans., will bring his St. Teresa five from Decatur for a crack at the state title.

Marty, a product of Spalding, has a team that has been both hot and cold all season, winning five and losing ten. However, the former Rambler grid great believes his team needs a taste of tourney competition and is going to see that they get it.

Cathedral of Belleville will come to Peoria with the fine record of ten games won against three lost. They play a classy brand of ball and are coached by Alphonse Scherer, S.M. The Crusaders have three veterans who will be their pace setters in the tourney. They are Harold Jeffroy, Bob Weiler and Bob Schmidt, gangling center.

George Ireland, also a graduate of Notre Dame, will bring his Marmion Military Academy quint to the state event with a record of three wins and seven losses. Four of the boys on this year's team with previous experience are Milroy, O'Brien, Brissy and Panigan.

Cairo, still struggling to rid itself of the debris left in the wake of the recent disastrous flood, is valiantly sending St. Joseph's high cage quintet for competition in the classic. The conditions at Cairo caused the postponement of many games, but the "Fighting Irish" hope to be in tip-top shape by tourney time.

For six years John Callans has turned out teams at Trinity high of Bloomington. This year he had developed another array of fighters who hope to go places at the state. Although their record of four victories and eight losses is not the kind that prognosticators pay off on, they are a determined bunch and are ready and willing to pound into their opponent with spirit a-plenty.

Eight wins and three losses is the record St. Patrick's of Kankakee will bring to Peoria Friday. Coach C. J. Romary, one of the greatest athletes ever turned out at St. Viator's college, has a bunch of Irishmen who are real scrappers.

E. Quingley, John Mortell, forwards, and Ernie Cassidy, guard, have played with St. Pat's for the past four years and E. Rillotte, guard, is a veteran of three seasons.

Cathedral high of Springfield will have plenty to offer this season, and will show their foot action deluxe. They are a member of the Illinois Catholic conference and have shown ruggedness in every contest to date.

The program ending Sunday night will windup three whole days of star-studded activity and will be ended in an auspicious manner. The Most Rev. Joseph H. Schlarman, bishop of Peoria, will preside at the winner with the beautiful Bishop Schlarman first place trophy.

Thoroughbreds Line Up at Santa Anita

Los Angeles, Cal.—(P)—Santa Anita park, at the base of the towering Sierra Madres, commanded national attention today as a brilliant field of thoroughbreds lined up for the Santa Anita Derby and its added purse of $50,000.

Twenty-three yearlings of 3-year-olds were expected to contest for the rich purse, topping the record twenty-two that started in the Kentucky Derby in 1928.

Last year Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He did ran through the mud to win over Valiant Fox and Gold Seeker for first prize added money of $26,500 in a field of eleven starters.

Today such outstanding 3-year-olds as Mrs. William H. Purst's Gerald, Willis Kilmer's Best Beau, and the Foxcatcher Farms Fairy Hill were groomed to try for a purse double the 1936 offering in weather that promised to be perfect.

Race experts foresaw plenty of trouble for the so-called favorites. In a field so large that Starter Eddie Thomas prepared to use the old-time ribbon instead of the customary gate, anything could happen.

Slow starters were at a disadvantage. Vanderbilt's Tedious, Sir Oracle, and Gerald came under that classification.

For the mile and one-sixteenth race the Taylor entries of Sir Oracle and Patty Cake, at 4 to 1 odds, Major Austin C. Taylor's Wichee and Jargo, at 6 to 1, and Gerald at the same price, ruled the overnight betting favorites.

More than a million dollars appeared certain to be wagered on the eight-race program. Saturday $1,000,000 went through the pari-mutuel windows.

CATCH ON?

Hal, bewildered, hal, amused was Mickey Cochrane after testifying as a government witness before the Securities Commission in Washington. "Behind the plate I know what's coming, but those attorneys had me guessing. I didn't know whether to look for a fast one or a hook," the famous Detroit manager and catcher said.

Ashland Overcomes Petersburg Cagers

Panthers Come Up Rapidly In Last Half to Grab 28 to 21 Decision

Ashland, Feb. 22.—Trailing 11-8 at the half, Ashland's Panthers whipped into a frenzy tonight and succeeded in turning back the Petersburg cagers 28 to 21.

LINDSTROM RELEASED BY BROOKLYN DODGERS

New York.—(P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers handed Freddie Lindstrom his unconditional release today, cutting off his hopes of a comeback after retiring voluntarily last season.

The 37-year-old outfielder, once a star third sacker for the Giants, was signed as a free agent last season after he was cast loose by the Chicago Cubs. He played only a few games before a leg injury forced him to the bench and he retired in May, saying he was not helping the Brooklyn club.

Recently Lindstrom applied for reinstatement, saying he had recovered completely from the injury and was in good condition. The Dodgers' new manager, Burleigh Grimes, could not find Lindy into his plans, however, and the club's announcement today disclosed he had been offered to several other teams without takers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Duewer were Alexander shoppers in the city Saturday.

Business College Downs Indies In Basket Skirmish

Illinois Freshmen and Mac's Clothiers Win Contests In Y.M.C.A. League

Illinois College Freshmen put the Liberty Boys to flight 26 to 18 in a Y. M. C. A. league skirmish last night. Moxon and Bryan shared scoring honors for the Yearlings, each chalking up 9 points. McWard was the high scorer for the Liberty Boys.

In the second clash of the evening Mac's Clothiers defeated the Luke-Mac's 32 to 20. Hartong and Abernathy stood out for Luke-Mac's and Mac's respectively.

The nightcap proved to be a furious contest with Brown's Business College barely nosing out Smith's Indies 37 to 35. Hidden's accurate bombardment of the basket netted his team 12 points. Kliner counted 11 points for the Indies.

Michigan Tromps On Purdue 31-16

Defending Champions Handcuffed by Wolverines

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 22.—(P)—Michigan's title-seeking basketball team handcuffed Purdue's powerful Boilermakers, who went without a goal during the last ten minutes of the clash here tonight before 9,000 wildly-cheering fans, and the Wolverines won, 31 to 16.

Defending co-champions and tied until tonight with Illinois for leadership in the 1937 Western Conference race, Purdue fought Michigan evenly in the first period, which ended with the score 8 to 8. The Boilermaker points came through free throws.

Illinois Defeats Wisconsin, 48-31

Maintain Lead in Western Conference

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 22.—(P)—Illinois maintained its commanding place in the Western Conference basketball race by decisively defeating Wisconsin, 48 to 31, here tonight.

The Illinois playing their last home game of the season, were never headed during the contest, leading 26 to 9 at the half.

Capt. "Bob" Riegel, lanky center, one of six seniors playing before the home crowd the last time, tied for offensive honors. Riegel's five baskets and one gift toss, tied him with Harry Combes, speedy forward who sank four baskets and made three free throws good.

Riegel won the tip off consistently, his tips going to Combes who then either started the play or passed it back to Henry.

Wisconsin was forced to shoot from long distances, the Illinois guards halting all attempts to work the ball under the basket.

Mary Ethel Lewis And Robert Frost Wed Here Sunday

Ceremony Performed Sunday Afternoon at Central Christian Church

Miss Mary Ethel Lewis, and Robert H. Frost, of Winchester, were married Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at the Central Christian church by the Rev. M. L. Pontius, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. The single ring ceremony was used.

Miss Alice Mathis played the wedding march. The bride wearing a white silk gown, with slippers to match, carried a bouquet of white hydrangeas and lilies. She was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Lewis, who wore a peach colored chiffon dress and a white gardenia corsage. Miss Freda Lewis, maid of honor, wore a pale green chiffon and also wore a white gardenia corsage.

Roy Weder, of Winchester, accompanied the bridegroom to the best man. The ushers were Misses Hilda Roodhouse and Peggy Sullivan.

Following the wedding, the bridal dinner was served in the blue room at the Peacock Inn, after which a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lewis, of east of the city.

Mrs. Frost graduated from Jacksonville high school with the class of 1936. Mr. Frost is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frost, of Winchester, and was graduated from Winchester Community high school, and Gem City Business college, Quincy. He is now the general manager of the Morgan-Scott service company in Winchester.

The couple left on a short wedding trip and will be at home in Winchester, Ill., after March 1.

Among the out-of-town guests present at the service were Lewis Baney, and Marjorie Sheppard, of Litchfield, and Bernie Ebertson, of Springfield.

Farm and Rural Interest

Fruit Growers of Morgan County Will Hear Experts At Session Here Thursday; Insect Control Will Be Studied; Rural Youth Play Set For March 2.

With prospects for higher average fruit prices during the next few seasons than they have had for the past five years, fruit growers in Morgan county will meet in a school to be held February 25 at the Farm Bureau hall, Jacksonville, by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and the Morgan County Farm Bureau. The program starts at 10:30 a.m. New facts and ideas aimed to help them make the most of their more favorable outlook will be featured on the program.

V. W. Kelley, horticultural extension specialist of the college, and S. C. Chandler, assistant entomologist of the Illinois State Natural History Survey, will be at the school to discuss current problems with growers. Fruit prices promise to be higher during the next few years because of the expected increase in consumer buying power, it was explained. On the other hand, threats of insect damage and injury to trees by drought and severe winter weather may cut into orchardists' returns. Also, higher prices may not materialize if citrus fruits should be cheaper. Then, too, an abnormally large crop of any deciduous fruit would lower prices for that fruit.

How to meet what threatens to be a serious coding moth situation will be explained by Chandler. It is being recommended that growers go after the first brood hard with the idea of reducing the amount of spraying that will be necessary for the second brood. This will cut down the amount of spray residue on fruit. Accordingly, five sprays are being recommended for the first brood, starting with the petal-fall, or calyx, spray and continuing with a spray a week. This is a change in the usual Illinois spraying practice. Fertilizing and pruning needed for trees injured by the drought and severe cold weather will be discussed by Kelley.

Insect Control Meeting Will Be Held Friday

"We know that chinch bugs and grasshoppers are with us and will be a menace in 1937," the February issue of the Morgan County Farm Bulletin states. "We are anxious to know how we can most effectively combat them." The bulletin states that all Morgan county farmers will have an opportunity to receive first hand information on control methods Friday afternoon, Feb. 26.

FOR MAYOR Vote For GEORGE F. BROWN.

John Bigger of this city, assistant state entomologist, will discuss methods of combating grasshoppers and chinch bugs.

The meeting has been called for 1:30 p.m. and will be held at the Farm Bureau hall. Every member is invited to attend and take his neighbor.

What Is Required of The 4-H Club Member

The complete cycle of requirements for enrollment and completion of a 4-H club member's work is as follows:

1. Age—At least 16 and not over 21 years as of July 1 of the current year.
2. Project—Personally own and care for at least one project.
3. Records—A record of all expense, income and other information as required in books furnished.
4. Attend local club meetings.
5. Report—Turn in completed record book at close of project.
6. Exhibit project, or fulfill special completion requirements.

To Aid Farmers in Locating Seed Corn

Finding sufficient seed corn to plant the 1937 crop may not be a hopeless task for farmers in the western part of Illinois and in states west of the Mississippi where drought and grasshoppers injured much of last year's crop, provided efforts of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and Illinois Crop Improvement Association are successful.

The two agencies are cooperating to supply farmers in search of seed corn with a list of farmers who have good seed corn for sale. More than 300 farmers from all sections of the state have submitted sample of open-pollinated corn to the agricultural college and the Crop Improvement Association for germination tests.

A list of these seed sources, together with the results of the germination tests, is now being prepared, according to J. C. Hackleman, crops extension specialist and secretary of the Crop Improvement Association.

Information is also available as to sources of seeds for small grain crops.

Play Will Be Given By Rural Youth Members

The Morgan County Rural Youth organization will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, March 2. A play will be given and a program of much interest presented.

The officers of the organization feel that they have finally selected a meeting night that has a minimum number of conflicts, Miss Emma Bergschneider is chairman of the committee that is planning the play.

Starting Chicks Is Critical Time

The value and cost of a matured pullet depends to a great extent on how she was brooded. Good brooding methods result in a smaller loss of chicks, as well as realizing greater broods. Demonstrations show that well brooded pullets lay more eggs, hold up better under intense feeding for production, and grow a larger and better frame for the future. Such hens ultimately finish up at the market.

There must be intensive brooding care the first week or 10 days, but careful attention must be given to the birds all through the brooding period. The essentials are neither complicated nor difficult. At first, it requires constant attention: "living with them." Simplicity of equipment, that can be purchased with a small outlay, good management and feeding methods are about all there is to it.

I have been asked by many beginners about the preferable method of heating the house, whether oil, kerosene, electricity or coal. Fuel oil is dependable. Hard coal seemingly the stand-by. Electricity is all right but with only 14 percent of farmers having this commodity, it is not seriously considered. That leaves the kerosene type of stove to be considered. While few are the times I have known of kerosene being responsible for fire, I never risked either an incubator or a kerosene cooking stove out of my sight.

Like a dwelling house, a higher temperature is required in extremely cold weather than in mild weather. Every manufacturer gives directions for regulating the temperature, the very young chicks needing more heat and after the first few days to lower it, probably as much as five degrees. The directions are only the elements; watch the chicks—they pile up when they are too cold. If they become too warm, they just wilt down and do not say a word. If, however, they lie down, stretched out full length, in a circle, with the contented chirp—all's well.—M. G. S.

Small Run Lifts Livestock Prices

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(P)—The smallest Monday run of livestock in more than a year aroused spirited packer competition today and lifted prices around 25 cents in all branches of the trade.

The return of wintry weather in the Chicago area was credited with being partly responsible for the cut in receipts and corresponding stimulation of wholesale meat demand.

Hogs rose 15 to 25 cents, with spots up much more in instances. The top in late dealings showed a 25 cent advance over Friday, going to $10.50. This upturn wiped out much of last week's hog market break.

Advances in cattle ranged upward to as much as 25 cents, with shipping quality beefs selling at $13.50 and better leading the way. A new top in more than a year was paid when some light steers sold for $14.15.

The upturn in lambs, while late in developing, carried values 15 to 25 cents higher, and a new top for the winter, 11.15, was paid for lambs by city butchers.

The cold weather was accompanied by signs of improving demand in the list of Holstein-Friesian cows entered in advanced registry testing. The champion is in the herd of R. V. Rasmussen, Deerfield.

A number of other cows in the Rasmussen herd are being tested for production in advanced registry sponsored by the Holstein-Friesian Association in cooperation with the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE. Being most of the ship's passengers; as far as known: COUNT POSEDI, DINK, grudge motive against BLANE; strong motive since BLANE knew his unfavorable past.

LADY WELTER, strong motive of financial gain; INOSTKE HAYASHI, strong motive of financial gain; REGINALD JOCELYN, strong motive of financial gain; MISS ROCKS, grudge motive against BLANE; strong motive since BLANE knew his unfavorable past.

As Kettering rounds out his deductions, Rocksavage appears with his physical being, most of his presence in the cabin when the crime was committed. The lounge steward corroborated this testimony.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

I THEN examined the contents of the wastepaper baskets, which had been removed from each of the parties' cabins on the morning following the crime, and three items of interest emerged from this examination.

In the refuse from Count Posodini's cabin I found 31 cigarette ends, 25 of these are Chesterfields, but the other 6 are an English brand called Players, and four out of these six have obvious traces of lipstick on them.

In the refuse from Miss Rocksavage's cabin I found a twist of hair which had obviously been removed from a comb. Most of this was golden hair, which undoubtedly comes from the head of Miss Ferri Rocksavage, but mingled with it there are a few short, black curly hairs, which definitely suggest that a man had used that comb after her.

Among the refuse from the Bishop of Bude's cabin I found one match torn out of a booklet of matches, upon which is printed in block letters the words "Adlon-Claridge."

I then re-examined various members of the party.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S THIRD EXAMINATION OF THE HONORABLE MRS. JOCELYN.

K. Come in, Mrs. Jocelyn. Sit down, do.

P.J. What, more questions, already?

K. Yes. Sorry I've got to trouble you again, but let's make it as pleasant as we can. Have a cigarette?

P.J. No thanks, I only smoke my own.

K. Right, then. May I have one of yours so we can be sociable?

P.J. Certainly.

K. I see you smoke Players. Very popular brand in England?

P.J. Very.

K. That's a charming shade of lipstick you use, Mrs. Jocelyn.

P.J. Need we go into that?

K. I'm afraid we've got to. I'm going to trouble you for the lipstick you have in your bag at the moment.

P.J. But—I don't understand.

K. Right, then. May I have one of yours so we can be sociable?

P.J. Certainly.

K. I see you smoke Players. Very popular brand in England?

P.J. Very.

K. That's a charming shade of lipstick you use, Mrs. Jocelyn.

P.J. Need we go into that?

K. I'm afraid we've got to. I'm going to trouble you for the lipstick you have in your bag at the moment.

P.J. But—I don't understand.

K. Never mind. Just hand it over, will you. I'll save all sorts of trouble in the end if you'll oblige me now.

P.J. All right. There's nothing very exciting about my lipstick, but I'm sure I don't want to be searched. Here it is.

K. Thanks. You won't mind if I keep it will you? We shall need it later to prove that it matches the lipstick on these cigarette ends which I've got in this little tin box—see?

P.J. Why—yes. But . . .

K. Play up all of them, Mrs. Jocelyn, smoked by you and found the morning after Blane's death in Count Posodini's cabin. Now, don't get me all wrong, I'm not trying to fix you for murder, and I'm not trying to raise any nasty scandal about you. The point is that some time between the morning of the 7th and the morning of the 8th you smoked these cigarettes in Posodini's cabin.

IF it was, as I have reason to believe, between 7:45 and 8:10 p. m. that lets you out of any suggestion that you were doing anything with the Count that you shouldn't have.

On the other hand, if you didn't smoke them at that time, it might suggest that you were there for a very much longer period and then—no offense—but it might be suggested that you and the Count were up to the sort of thing your husband wouldn't care to hear about.

P.J. I have nothing to add to my previous statement.

K. All right, Mrs. Jocelyn. Then the presumption is that you were in the Count's cabin at some other, and probably a much longer, period during that 24 hours. If that comes out, as it may quite well have to in a case like this, what will your husband have to say?

P.J. A lot I expect.

K. That doesn't appear to worry you over much?

P.J. As a matter of fact it's just the sort of little lesson I've been meaning to give him for some time.

K. So he's been playing you up with Ferri, eh? I guessed as much.

P.J. No thanks, I only smoke my own.

U. S. Constitution Made for Men Says Laidler Monday

Need Amendment Declares Speaker at MacMurray College Last Night

Harry Laidler, eminent socialist, stressed the importance of a Constitutional amendment, declaring that "the Constitution was made for men, and not for the Constitution," in his address upon the supreme court crisis, before a large audience, at Music Hall, MacMurray college, Monday evening.

"On this day, said Dr. Laidler, 'when millions are paying homage to George Washington, two things can be done, we can think in words or in terms of spirit and strive to emulate on certain words and too little of the lives and contribution of the great men of the nation.'

"In the days of Washington the nation suffered and worked for a different political set up. We must think of this crisis, visualizing its differences. At that time the four million were scattered along the Atlantic seaboard, with a local individualism, sufficient unto themselves. A great change has come since the early period, a vast nation with 130 million with national and international markets, and the greatest industries and corporations in the world. The nation has left the old rugged individualism and now 200 great corporations own 50 percent of the wealth. In the field of natural resources, the few are controlling 90 percent of the raw material in holding companies. By using these holding companies they are able to start with a very small capital and pyramid it until it controls a vast fortune.

"The business of the individual has passed into great corporations, yet problems of insecurity, peace and war are increasing.

"People are thinking in terms of legislation and trying to solve economic and social welfare issues. There is more need for social control than at the beginning of the century or at the founding of the United States.

"There has been lack of scientific planning. The President has produced a supreme court crisis, asking that the number of members be enlarged, thereby creating younger blood to vitalize the present day problems. Some say that it would tend to take dictatorship from the supreme court, others that it would give too great power to Congress."

Dr. Laidler called attention to the fact that Washington did not consider the constitution perfect, but advised its adoption. All framers believed that there would be amendments from time to time as conditions demanded.

In developing the subject, he reviewed the period of 1857, when John Marshall wished more federal power, also spoke of the Dred Scott case decided by the supreme court accelerated the Civil War. Dr. Laidler called attention to the change in number, during the presidency of Grant, and the crisis of 1870 and in the 90's over the income tax.

Labor disputes occurred in legislation in 1900 and 1930, when Theodore Roosevelt campaigned against great wealth. Following the security of the 90's, the great Wall Street crash caused panics and at present, although the curve is going up there are eight or nine million people begging for work.

"Congress is powerless unless there is a change in the Constitution which is not geared to a rapidly changing world, problems of social security, education and purchasing power, which are of vital importance and instead of a drifting court," said Dr. Laidler, "we must look to an amendment, thinking in terms of the lives and happiness of 130 million people."

Polls for Primary Election to Open At 6 This Morning

Candidates for Mayor, Clerk, Treasurer, Aldermen to Be Named

Polls in the 16 precincts of Jacksonville will open at 6 o'clock this morning for the city primary election and close this afternoon at five o'clock. Candidates for mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and aldermen will be nominated by the Republican and Democratic parties.

The beginning of the next administration will mark the start of four year terms for city officers. Since the present city officials were elected two years ago a law has been enacted which provides that candidates elected at the city election next April will serve four years, with the exception of some of the aldermen, who will serve but two years.

Supporters of the various candidates seeking office do not expect that an unusual number of votes will be cast today. The campaigns conducted by the contestants have been quiet, inactivity among those interested in politics being marked.

The Journal-Courier company will be prepared to give out election returns as fast as they are received from the election officials. Returns may be obtained over the telephone or from a bulletin-board that will be erected today.

It is not expected that the counting of the ballots will take many hours due to the shortness of the ballots.

Car Is Destroyed In Flooded Creek

Hillview Family Escapes From Water, But Abandon Auto; News Notes

Hillview, Feb. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Truman Wahl and members of the family met with an automobile accident when they were returning home from town Saturday night, when their car stalled in a creek. The Wahl home is located close to the Schultz Mill northeast of here. A creek must be crossed three times between the main road and their home.

The car stalled in the middle of the third. Mr. Wahl was able to get his family to the banks just before the car and all its contents were swept away with the rapidly flowing water.

About ten dollars worth of groceries were in the car. These with many parts of the car were distributed along the banks of the creek. The radiator was torn off and demolished, the spare tire ruined, the battery torn out, and the whole car completely destroyed. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

News Notes

The road east from Hillview and running parallel with the railroad became impassable Saturday night when a rapid flow of water from the bluffs on the north caused a complete wash-out of rock and gravel which had been placed along that road a little over a mile east of here Saturday.

Since early winter there has been much water coming from a branch down the bluff, and into that part of the road. Much work has been done the past week deepening ditches, building new drains, and putting rock and gravel where it was thought to be most needed to withstand the flow from spring rains. All this proved to be of no value Saturday night after the heavy rain.

John Jones and his family who have all been flu victims are improving. Mr. Jones is ferryman of the Pearl ferry.

Dr. Ernest G. Epler Summoned by Death At Fort Smith, Ark.

Remains Will Be Brought to Jacksonville for Burial Wednesday Afternoon

The remains of Dr. Ernest G. Epler, who died in Fort Smith, Arkansas, will be brought to Jacksonville for burial in the family lot at Diamond Grove cemetery at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Dr. Epler, the second son of Judge Cyrus Epler and Cornelia Nettleton Epler, lived his early life in the family home on West State street.

He was graduated in 1881 from Illinois college in the class with Governor Richard Yates, and George Dewese, one year before that of William Jennings Bryan.

After his medical education at Rush Medical college, and internship in Chicago and a year with Dr. Thomas J. Pitner of Jacksonville, he went to Fort Smith, Arkansas.

For about fifty years in medical practice at Fort Smith, he presented that staunch integrity for which his father, Judge Epler, was so well known in his twenty-five years on the bench of Illinois circuit courts.

He leaves his wife and daughter, Edith, who is director of the social welfare work of Syracuse university Medical school and hospital, Syracuse, N. Y.

In Jacksonville he leaves his sisters, Miss Effie Epler and Dr. Blanch N. Epler, and in Boston one brother, Rev. Percy Epler.

Central Christian Anniversary of Church Class Marks Tenth Anniversary

Married Couples Class Has Annual Observance; Over One Hundred Attend

The tenth anniversary of the Married Couples' class of the Central Christian church, was held in the church dining room Monday evening, with a baked chicken supper served by the members of the Philathea class. More than one hundred members and guests were in attendance.

The tables were decorated in most artistic fashion with red, white and blue colors. Bouquets of red and white flowers in vases filled with blue water and white candles tied with red and blue cellophane ribbons, added to the attractiveness of the scene, with the class books which are annually prepared by D. L. Hardin.

Hobart Stephenson, president of the class, introduced Claude Gustine, who served as toastmaster.

Mrs. Verle Glasser was called upon to read the class history. She reviewed the fact that the class was organized March 3, 1927, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hermann, with a group of eight couples. The present year book lists 63 couples as members of the class.

Mr. Hermann was then called on for remarks, following which Dr. M. L. Pontius spoke briefly on the theme, "Trends in Religious Education."

After the talk by the pastor the class and guests adjourned to the entertainment hall, where a program was presented by a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Coultas, Mr. and Mrs. David Livengood and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hardin.

The numbers were:

Vocal duet—Roy McPherson and Mrs. Milton Edge.

Accordian solos—Miss Marjorie Axs (Notre Dame Victory March and Stars and Stripes Forever). As an encore she sang "Pennies from Heaven."

Mrs. Lois Hardin, together with the Rhythm Blenders and Miss Beulah Stewart, dressed in southern colonial costumes, presented a group of songs: "Carolina," "Carolina Moon," and "Mrs. Hardin gave a whistling solo, "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline."

Mrs. Stewart rendered several numbers on the xylophone, "Southern Melodies and Melodies," "The Old Spinning Wheel" and "Glow Worm."

The Rhythm Blenders sang "It's True What They Say About Dixie," and "The Sentimental Gentleman of Georgia." Mrs. Hardin sang "Miss Rose."

Mrs. Helen Boyd Of Greenfield Dies

Death Occurs Monday Afternoon; Funeral Services to Be Wednesday

Greenfield, Ill., Feb. 22.—Mrs. Helen C. Boyd, passed away at her home in this city at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon following a brief illness.

TRUCK DRIVER HELD AFTER ACCIDENT IN WHICH 2 WERE HURT

Accused of leaving the scene of an accident, Harrison Johnson, Chicago, is being held in the Logan county jail at Lincoln as the result of a collision Friday night last week in which Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Gunn, former Morgan county residents, were painfully injured. Johnson is a driver for the A. E. Adams Trucking company of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunn, residents of Clinton, were injured as they were on their way home from Murrayville, where they were called at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Mary Gunn, who is ill. He sustained a broken nose, and his wife has several fractured ribs.

Gunn charged that Johnson's truck was parked on the hard road, and that he left the scene of the crash. Johnson was arrested at Joliet after his description had been broadcast over the police radio system.

The truck driver claims that he left the scene of the accident only after the driver of a bus, which had stopped, told him he would make a report of the collision.

Bus Driver Rescues Two Children In Pond Near Highway

Employe of Local Company Credited With Saving Pair Near Pekin

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—(P)—Gilbert Ellis, a driver for the Jacksonville Bus Lines, took enough time from his job today to be a hero.

Driving west of East Pekin, he noticed two children struggling in the ice filled water of a small pond about 300 feet from the road.

He stopped his bus and went to the rescue. Diving into the water, he pulled out Joyce Holmes, 10, and her three year old brother, Larry, and carried them to their home a short distance away.

Without changing into dry clothes, he climbed back into his bus and arrived in Havana, Ill., only 20 minutes late. Ellis lives in Peoria.

Headquarters of the Jacksonville Bus Lines received word yesterday afternoon that Gilbert Ellis, one of its drivers, had rescued two boys from drowning near Pekin.

According to the message, Ellis, whose home is at Peoria, noticed two boys break through the ice on a pond where they were skating. He stopped his bus, plunged into the water, and succeeded in dragging both of the boys to safety.

Farmer in South Morgan Stricken By Heart Attack

Hardin F. Grigsby Passes Away Suddenly at Home Near Nortonville

Hardin F. Grigsby, a farmer residing three and one-half miles south-west of Nortonville near the county line, died suddenly of a heart attack at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Grigsby had been suffering a round of influenza for several days, but was up and around as usual. A short time after the breakfast hour his sister, Miss Bessie Grigsby, heard something fall in the sitting room, and found her brother on the floor near a stove. His death is believed to have occurred instantly.

Coroner Elmer Sample of this city made a trip to the Grigsby home, accounting several hours on account of muddy roads, where he conducted an inquest. The jurors were William Neece, Lloyd Grider, William H. Hicks, Everett Farmer, Sanford S. Covey and Wayne Waters.

The coroner made most of the trip by automobile, but was forced to travel the last mile in a spring wagon.

Mr. Grigsby was 68 years old on Feb. 19. He is survived by his sisters and four nephews.

Funeral arrangements are not complete. Interment will be made in the Whitlock cemetery.
